

Parents: How can I prevent my child from dropping out?

- Ensure your child attends school every day.
- Review your child's grades in school: interim reports and report cards.
- Meet with your child's teachers.
- Set up an academic plan for your child.
- Meet with your child's counselor, social worker, nurse, and/or SAP counselor.
- Encourage your child to be involved in positive school and/or community activities.
- Notify the school if you have financial difficulty so that they may link you to community services.
- Require your child to read every night.
- Let your child know that you value education as important to his/her future.
- Set aside time every day for homework, even if your child doesn't have any.
- Limit the amount of time your child watches television and plays video games to no more than one or two hours each day.
- Help your child use problem-solving skills in difficult situations at home and at school.
- Praise good behavior.

Effects of Dropouts on Society

- High School dropouts contribute $60,000 less in taxes every year.
- USA could save $17 billion in Medicaid and healthcare cost by graduating all students.
- If the male graduate rate went up by 5% the nation would see an annual savings of $49 billion in crime related costs.

Dropout Statistics for NC

- Despite increases in student membership each year, WCPSS continues to maintain a steady decline in dropout counts. In 2012-2013, the WCPSS high school dropout rate fell to 1.95%, its lowest rate ever. The WCPSS rate is lower than the state's rate. The NC overall rate decreased in 2012-13 to 2.5% from 3.01% in 2011-12.
- Other large school districts in North Carolina, including Durham (3.2%), Forsyth (2.7%), Mecklenburg (3.0%), and Guilford (2.1%) had higher dropout rates in 2012-13 than did WCPSS. Of those districts, only WCPSS and Guilford have had a rate below the state average in each of the past 13 years.
- The WCPSS dropout rate for Hispanic/Latino students (4.1%) fell for the seventh consecutive year, marking a 50% decline since 2005-06.
- Since 2007-08 (6.84%), the dropout rate for the Black/African-American student group has been steadily dropping (2.8%). This group had the highest decrease in dropouts (1.8 percentage points), followed by Hispanic/Latino students (0.9 percentage points).
- After 8 years of a dropout rate in the 2-3% range, White students' dropout rate has steadily lowered since 2007-08 to 1.1% in 2012-13.
- Students with disabilities (SWD) continued their previous years' trend, lowering their dropout rates in 2012-13 to 2.9% (SWD). The dropout rate for limited English proficient (LEP) students in 2012-13 was 7.1%.
